

WILSON TO ATTEND UNIVERSITY OPENING

Fifteen Hundred Students Seek Enrollment in New Institution Here.

Upwards of 1,500 applications from students throughout the country for admission to the New American University, which will be formally opened by President Wilson next Wednesday, had been received by the secretary of the institution at noon today. Each mail brings indications that the enrollment of students at the new institution will surpass the highest hopes of those at the head of the university.

President Wilson will be assisted at the opening exercises of the institution by Secretary of State Bryan, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and scores of visiting church dignitaries.

Preparations have been made to care for a large multitude at the opening exercises, which will be inaugurated with a concert by the United States Marine Band at 2 o'clock on the lawn of the university.

The opening of the university will mark the opening of the new electric railway line which is to run out Macomb street and Massachusetts avenue northwest from Wisconsin avenue to the District line, carrying visitors to the university.

Bishop Cranston To Preside.

Bishop Earl Cranston, the resident Methodist bishop here, will preside at the opening exercises.

The distinctly religious part of the exercises will be conducted by representatives of two great denominations. Bishop Alfred Harding, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Washington, who always has been deeply interested in the university, will deliver the invocation. The benediction will be pronounced by the venerable senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Bishop A. P. C. W. Wilson, who will return from the general conference of his church at Oklahoma City to take part in the university exercises.

Two other eminent churchmen will come long distances to take part in the exercises. Bishop McDowell will journey from Chicago and Bishop Hamilton will make the trip from Boston, Mass.

Will Care For Throng.

In order to care for the assembly, the marshal, authorities have selected a chief marshal of the day the Rev. William A. Haggerty, Ph. D., as aide. Dr. Haggerty has selected the Rev. John T. Einar, of Calvary Church; the Rev. Lucius C. Clark, of Hamline Church; the Rev. W. W. Barnes, of Douglas Church; the Rev. A. H. Thompson, of Washington Church; the Rev. D. H. Mar, of Dumbarton Church; the Rev. G. L. White, of Anacostia; the Rev. E. C. Powers, of Tenney Church; the Rev. C. E. Wise, of Iowa Avenue Church; the Rev. Merritt Earl, of Congress Heights Church; the Rev. C. A. Shreve, of Brown Church; the Rev. C. A. Vincent, of the Mount Pleasant Church; the Rev. C. H. Butler, of the Columbia Church; the Rev. Paul W. H. Mar, of the Church of the Advent; the Rev. A. Miller, of Ninth Street Church; the Rev. Louis Randall, of Rhode Island Avenue Church; the Rev. J. H. Huber, of First Reformed Church; the Rev. C. E. Fritz, of United Brethren Church; the Rev. L. B. Clark, of Friends Church; and the Rev. E. K. Hardin, of Mount Vernon Place Church.

Tickets securing reserved seats until 2:15 p. m. can be obtained by written request with addressed two-cent stamped envelope, stating how many tickets are desired, to the office of the American University, 1425 F street.

Funeral Services Held For the Rev. J. D. Marr

Funeral services for the Rev. J. D. Marr, former pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, were held from the church this morning. At 9 o'clock the office of the dead was received, and at 10 o'clock a solemn high requiem mass was offered for the soul of the former pastor. Bishop C. B. Corrigan, of Baltimore, assisted by the Rev. Paul Griffith acting as deacon, and the Rev. Charles Barr, acting as subdeacon, officiated. The interment was at Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

LINDSEY TO SPEAK ON COLORADO STRIKE

Denver Judge Brings Survivors of Ludlow Fire to Back Plea to President.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, and the representatives of the women's relief committee, who are on their way to Washington to interview the President, will speak tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the National Suffrage Society, 315 G street, under the auspices of the Washington Woman Suffrage Council. The meeting has been arranged by the council to give the people of Washington an opportunity to hear Judge Lindsey and his committee explain the strike situation in Colorado. The Consumers' League, the National Voters' League, the Monday Evening Club, and the American Federation of Labor have been invited to participate in the meeting.

Congressman McDonald of Michigan and Congressman Bryan of Washington also will make short talks.

The Lindsey party includes besides the Judge and Mrs. Lindsey and the women of the relief committee, three miners' wives and two children, survivors of the Ludlow fire. They will arrive late today and have an appointment with the President for tomorrow, when they will explain to him the need which still exists in their State for Federal aid. It will be remembered that it was a mass meeting of women who forced the governor of Colorado to ask for the Federal troops.

Judge Lindsey is one of the most remarkable men in this country, because he is a man who has won his way against overwhelming odds and despite the efforts of two strong political parties to crush him.

He has been called a fanatic, a dreamer, an impractical man, and by those who had no other epithet to fling, a "muckraker." The last term was because he told the story of the fight he made in Denver in a series of magazine articles.

The woman suffragists like Judge Lindsey because he has fought for the things which are advocated by the suffragists. And Judge Lindsey is a first believer in woman suffrage, because without the support of the women of Denver and Colorado, he would never have been able to carry through his program of reform in that city.

Say 64 Are Killed Over Guatemalan Maiden

PUERTO BARRIOS, Guatemala, May 19.—Jealousy over a beautiful Indian girl led to a race riot, it became known today. In the Quetzaltenango district, last week, in which six American colored employees of the United Fruit Company were killed, more than that number were wounded, and many Indian slain.

The arrival of a large force of troops finally quelled the rioting, after it had lasted three days.

PLAYS COMING NEXT WEEK

For the rest of this week, starting tomorrow evening, the offering of the Aborn Opera Company at the New National Theater will be Puccini's ever-delightful "Madame Butterfly." Aida, Henni, Phoebe Crosby, Louis Le Baron, Louise Hausman, Henry Taylor, Giuseppe Agostini, Thomas Chalmers, and Wilmet Goodwin are some of the stars who will alternate in the leading roles.

Sunday night, Bize's greatest opera, "Carmen," will start next week's offerings, with Bertha Shalek and Jayne Herbert alternating in the leading roles, and Leonis Samoff, Salvatore Sciarrett, Louis D'Angelo, Jean Theodor, Lena Mason, Ellen Castles, William Schuster, Philip Branson, Florence Cousin, and Helen Gaynor in the cast. Beginning Thursday night, "The Tales of Hoffman" will be sung. While this brilliant opera has been familiarized here by the Aborns in seasons past, it is one of the ever popular bills, and it is still considered technically a novelty. It is particularly welcome by way of variety, as it is lighter and less serious than the regular grand opera.

The announcement of the production of "The Governor's Lady" by the Pol Players next week has awakened unusual interest, not alone from the wealth of green leaves overhead and brilliant flowers scattered all about, but from the fact that the play has a run of a season, and a half in New York, but because Ishtar Jewell has been announced to play the part made famous by Emma Dunn. The part of the governor's wife is one of the most unique in dramatic literature and it is the most important interpretation of it is the most important achievement of her career. Mr. Huber will have the part of the governor, played originally by Emmett Corrigan. The play, which has never been given by a stock company, is a story of a man who becomes wealthy, goes into politics, and achieves great success, and his wife, who "took in" washing during her early days and cannot keep pace with her husband's upward social climb.

One of the most irresistible of farces, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," has been selected by the Columbia Players for presentation next week. William Morris headed the big cast provided for the play on the occasion of its original production at the Metropolitan Square Theater by Walter Lawrence. On that occasion the play created a new record for New York in the length of its run. The play takes its name from an innocent message sent by a suspicious wife in an effort to ascertain the truth of her husband's explanation of his all-night absences from home. From this telegram developed a series of extraordinarily funny situations.

Frank Keenan, famous for his vivid portrayals of unique types in many great plays and in association with famous dramatic stars will be presented for the first time in vaudeville here.

PLAYS COMING NEXT WEEK

At the B. F. Keith Theater next week in "Vindication," His supporting company includes such well-known actors as Harry McGray and Mac N. Barnes. The play is Southern in plot and sentiment and hinges upon the Southern's undying love for Gen. Robert E. Lee. It is said to be the most worthy and brilliant one-act play of many seasons. The added attraction will be Prince Florio, a jungle comedian, said to surpass in humor all other humorists comedians. The extra added feature will be the Great Asahi, the Mikado's own magician, under permission to visit the Panama-Pacific exposition. Another important number will be Cleo Gascoigne, for two seasons singing child roles with the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company. A notable addition will be May Tully, at latest offering "The Mona Lisa," by Estelle Churchill and company. Other attractions will be the Boland and Holtz, protégés of Elsie Janis; Vandinoff and Louis in sensational oil painting on a whirling wheel; Muller and Corzan in "Old Nonsense"; the Hearst-Selig motion picture review; and the pipe organ recitals. Sunday next all the stellar features and other attractions in the current bill will be included in the lengthy and varied program.

With all of its buildings glistening bright under new coats of paint and shining white walks in contrast to the wealth of green leaves overhead and brilliant flowers scattered all about, Glen Echo Park is all ready for its gates to be opened to the public Saturday, when the summer season, all the attractions of the amusement devices that made the resort so popular last summer, will be in operation again, and, in addition, many new features will be offered, most of them being on the free list. Starting Monday, for one week, the first big feature of the season is announced. This is the engagement of one of the best exhibition pairs of dancers in the country, Howard Leslie Hot and Lillian Taylor. Graduates of the Castle House, these clever dancers have been scoring big successes over the Keith circuit. But Monday will mark their first appearance in the Capital. The hours the park is open will be the same as in the past, from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m., and admission

The feature secured by the management of Crandall's Theater for next week is the special cinematograph production "A Million Bids," to be shown at all performances for four days, starting Monday. This play is in five great parts and comes from George Cameron's play of "Agnes." For Sunday the main attraction is "Life's Temptation," a stirring problem play. For Friday the feature will be "Old Folks From Way Down East," a home play that appeals to the heart of everyone. Saturday the principal film is "Treacher," a drama full of keen interest in four great parts.
